CRASH INJURES LOCAL CYCLIST

William R. Wilde Suffers Possible Skull Fracture In Collision on Route 422

A young motorcyclist was seriously injured at 7:10 o'clock last evening when he ran his cycle into an automobile pulling out on Route 422, one mile east of Limerick.

He is William R. Wilde, 23, of 346 Oak street, who was taken to Memorial hospital in an ambulance of the Good Will Fire company.

His condition was described as "fair" late last night. Unconscious when brought into the hospital, Wilde was treated first for shock, and also was suffering from a laceration of the forehead, bruise burns of the left thigh, and a possible fractured skull and brain concussion.

Joseph Marsden, of Limerick, said that he was beginning to pull out from in front of the Church fruit stand, on the south side of the road, looking in both directions on the highway before starting on his way back to Limerick.

"I didn't see anything coming," Marsden stated, "and was still in low gear, moving out of the parking space, when the driver of the motorcycle came down the road and swerved into me."

The motorcycle, which was headed east, had only a dented front fender, while the left front fender of the automobile was almost torn completely away from the body of the car, hanging loose at a right angle.

Witnesses of the collision said that Wilde flew out of his seat and struck the roadhead head first.

State police of the Collegeville sub-station investigated the accident.

Fay Gets Long Term For Raping Girl

John Henry Fay, 33-year-old Marcus Hook man was sent to prison yesterday by a Pittsburgh court, but his admitted guilt in a Montgomery county rape murder still hung on the belief of county authorities that it lacked corroborative evidence.

Fay was sentenced to a penitentiary term of 7 1/2 to 15 years and assessed a fine of $7000 when he pleaded guilty before Judge Samuel A. Wells to the rape of a six-year-old McKeesport girl. The court gave Fay an additional fine of $3000 and three years in the workhouse for assault and battery on three other McKeesport children.

The slaying of Carol Ann Thompson, Upper Gwynedd township girl on May 10 was admitted by Fay in several confessions to county authorities, but District Attorney Frederick B. Smilie said prosecution was delayed until State police obtained sufficient evidence.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP) — Hollywood Communists raised $87,000 for their cause at a recent meeting, Producer-Director Sam Wood, of the movies, testified today.

He said actress Katharine Hepburn appeared at the meeting. Wood was one of the opening witnesses as the big Congressional hunt for Red tinges in Hollywood got under way.

Another one, Jack L. Warner, vice president of Warner Brothers, testified that people with "un-American leanings" have bled into Hollywood.

But a hearing by the House committee on Un-American activities also turned up testimony that:

1. Unrelaxed vigilance is being maintained to keep subversive influences out of movies.
2. "Of course," some war time films were "friendly to Russia" but the White House wasn't responsible for that. Louis B. Mayer, production chief of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, made this statement.

Wood was positive there definitely are Communists among screen writers. He called them "the most dangerous group in the movie industry."

He said a Hollywood laboratory theater for training workers is controlled by "the Communist party."

Warner and Mayer, refraining from listing anyone as Communists, both spoke of "un-American" influences in Hollywood.

And Warner said he wanted to deny "vehemently" that the Government co-operated in the production by his company of "Mission to Moscow."

Mayer was just as emphatic in saying "Song of Russia," starring Robert Taylor, was not made at Government request.

These war time films were mentioned the past Spring when Committee Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) said "White House pressure" was responsible for some flagrant Communist propaganda in the movies.

Mayer said Communists "should be denied the sanctuary of the freedom they seek to destroy."

He told the committee he has kept a "relentless vigilance against un-American influences."

No movie stars were questioned today. But Adolph Menjou is on tap for tomorrow.

Robert W. Kenny, lawyer for 19 Hollywood figures who have been summoned to testify, said the probe is the beginning of congressional censorship of movies.

The next step, said Kenny, would be for "Congress to become the hiving hall" for actors, writers and others, and that then films which did not conform with the views of a majority of Congress would not be produced.

A reporter said that several persons represented by Kenny were described in today's testimony as being Communists and asked whether Kenny had any comment to make.

"I don't know if any of the persons I represent are Communists," Kenny replied, adding that he didn't consider it his business to inquire into a client's political affiliations.

The film, "Mission to Moscow," was based on a book by Joseph E. (Continued on Page Six)

U. S. Urges Balkan Patrol To Maintain World Security

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—The United States appealed tonight to the United Nations assembly for action that would convince Russia's Balkan satellites that the international community "does not intend to repeat the mistakes of the past and see their machinery for collective security jeopardized."

The appeal was made by U. S. delegate Herschel V. Johnson after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky charged once more that the U. S. and Britain—and not Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania—were responsible for the disturbing Greek situation.

Johnson asked the assembly to approve a decision by the 37-nation political committee to establish a U. N. watchdog commission to assist in solving the Greek-Balkan problem. He spoke at a night plenary session of the assembly, the third of the day.

The American delegate said "the violence" of the opposition by Russia's Balkan satellites to the establishment of the U. S.-proposed watchdog commission "can be interpreted only as indicative of the fact that certain projects will be frustrated by its existence."

Johnson did not explain what these "projects" were, but added: "If they were not in fact engaged in projects contrary to the (U.N.) charter, what greater opportunity could these countries have to prove to the world the truth of their denials, to clear themselves of charges leveled against them?"

A U. N. Security council inquiry committee report, based for the present assembly debate, held that Yugoslavia was primarily to blame, and Bulgaria and Albania to a lesser degree, for disturbances along Greece's northern borders.

Charitable Services Total $30,000 at Pottstown Hospital

Reports of charitable work furnished by the Pottstown hospital and of the program of renovation currently underway, highlighted a meeting of the board of directors at the hospital last night.

A. C. Seawell, administrator, reported the hospital had dispensed $30,000 worth of charitable services during the fiscal year, almost twice as much as in the previous year and more than any other year in the hospital's history.

The master plan committee will hold its first meeting Nov. 14 at the Brookside Country club to prepare a report on improvements at the hospital.

J. C. Blue, Samuel H. Keiser, Edward L. Gruber and Seawell will work out details for the November meeting, it was announced.

A program of repainting the hospital is under way, and a snack bar for all patients and their visitors, as well as for physicians, nurses, and all hospital employees, will be opened next week.

The Senior Women's auxiliary will redecorate and refurbish the living room at the nurses' home, as well as renovate the building generally and furnish a rumpus room in the basement.

Fire Alarm May Be 'Joke,' But Its $50 Cost Is Real

A false alarm from the alarm box at Jefferson and Hale streets cost $50 to answer yesterday. Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer declared.

Lindauer based his estimate on the salaries of the drivers and the wear and tear on the five pieces of apparatus—two from the Empire Hook and Ladder company and three from the Philadelphia Steam Fire Engine company—which responded to the call.

The alarm had been set purposefully, he said, since the box, one of the new pull type, showed signs of tampering.

Police believe the alarm was sent in by school children as complaints of roystering had been received from residents of Jefferson street. Motor Patrolman Lewis A. Borge was sent to investigate the complaints received.

While the other two companies were responding to the false alarm, the Good Will Fire company was fighting a brush fire in the vicinity of South and Mt. Vernon streets. They were summoned to the blaze when flames threatened to spread to the Rupert school building premises.

No property damage resulted from the fire.

LUCKMAN GROUP REFUSES TO LIFT POULTRY CURB

Food Committee Rejects Feed Industry Proposal To End Fowl-less Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Citizens Food committee tonight rejected a proposal to end poultryless Thursday, saying the poultry and feed industries have failed to offer an adequate grain-saving substitute plan.

Charles Luckman, the chairman of the committee told reporters, however, that the industry representatives probably will return tomorrow with a "new proposal."

After a five-hour, closed door session which ended in deadlock, Luckman told newsmen the industry plan was "not specific enough" in terms of guaranteed savings of grain for Europe.

The poultry dealers had told the committee, it was learned, that millions of fowl are gorging on vital grains and that eliminating "chickenless Thursdays" would be the best way to help Europe, and conserve food supplies.

Luckman clearly indicated his willingness to end the poultryless day if an adequate plan is forthcoming, saying:

"We will entertain any specific program to conserve grain at the source, rather than at the consumer end."

The National Poultry Producers Federation and commercial feed manufacturers brought into the session a promise that they would "encourage" savings in feed grains and that they "wanted to co-operate," Luckman said.

"I believe that," he added, "but I feel impelled to ask for the specific measures and steps by which they plan to achieve conservation."

Luckman said he felt that an "adequate" program might include an agreement to eliminate the use of certain grains from commercial feed and the reduction of other grains.

Another suggestion, he said, is that the poultry raisers exert their efforts to pledge breeders and hatchers to a 25 or 30 per cent reduction in the hatching of chicks.

This food-drive chairman said the industry plan as it now stands, would not "warrant at this time the abandonment of poultryless Thursday."

"The plan presented was a sincere effort to meet a very real economic problem which faces the industry," he added.

"I hope the industry will come forward shortly with a program that will both attack this problem and save the grain which must be saved. I believe that they will submit a new proposal."

"I do not regard the issue as closed, and it will be constantly reviewed and reconsidered when the industries bring back a 'set of more specific proposals'."

The poultry dealers had argued that if the government would encourage the eating of chickens and turkeys, instead of discouraging it, 4,250,000 bushels could be saved every week.

Industry spokesmen told reporters another 30,000,000 bushels may be saved from this year's grain crop through an "intelligent and effective" campaign aimed at improved grinding and supplementing of feed grains. This would include grain fed to cattle, hogs, poultry and all other livestock.

The continuance of poultryless Thursday, it was said, is forcing poultrymen to hold on to large flocks and to "pour scarce and expensive grain into these birds to protect their investment."

UNIFORM PLAN FOR INSPECTIONS OF CARS SOUGHT

Gilbertsville Area Group Formed to Help Enforce Standards, Cut Accidents

The Gilbertsville area Chapter of a new State organization, set up to try to slash the accident rate by enforcing universal standards of vehicle inspection, held its first meeting in the Swamp hotel last night.

A meeting of the Pottstown area is scheduled for Oct. 28, according to Trooper Frank Knarr, of the Collegeville sub-station, State police, who spoke at last night's session.

The new group—known as the Montgomery County Advisory Council—is sponsored by the safety section of the State Department of Revenue and by the Governor's Safety Council. It will work with the State police and with representatives of all official inspection stations, of which there are 360 in this county.

Since Montgomery county is the third largest in the State according to motor vehicle operator licenses, its organization into sections and areas precedes that in all other counties except Philadelphia and Allegheny.

There are two sections—Section 1, west of Route 202, and Section 2, comprising all the remaining portion of the county.

In turn, each section is divided into eight sections. Gilbertsville is Section 1, Area 4, while Pottstown will become Section 1, Area 1.

Thirty-five persons attended the Swamp meeting last night, including representatives of all inspection stations in the area.

Raymond K. Mensch, of Gilbertsville, Democratic county commissioner, was elected Section 1, Area 4, chairman.

Trooper Knarr, who addressed the advisory council members, emphasized the need for uniform and rigid inspection procedures.

"Although the percentage of accidents due to mechanical failures is only 7-9 in this State," he declared, "in the interest of promoting better highway safety, the council will try to reduce this figure, through uniform inspection methods."

A detailed discussion of inspection procedures followed Knarr's talk.

As the inspection stations in each area meet and discuss their revised methods, the areas, sections, and later, counties, will compare notes, to establish State-wide uniformity.

It was explained that the advisory council is only one branch of the long-term program designed to cut the vehicle accident in Pennsylvania.

Programs already in operation in the schools for future drivers; pedestrian courses are being contemplated; scientifically-designed tests for drivers are given, and now, the mechanical phase of the highway accident rate is being investigated, with a view to cutting down mechanical failures.

In addition to the inspection station representatives who will attend each meeting of the local advisory councils, State police inspection station officers will be on hand to maintain a program of co-operation with the garagemen.

Decision on Wells Fee To Be Presented to Council on Nov. 5

A discussion pro and con regarding the merits of the $22,000 fee charged by Borough Solicitor C. Edmund Wells for legal services rendered in proceedings whereby the borough acquired the holdings of the Pottstown Gas and Water company was conducted last night at borough hall.

A conference was held by members of a citizens committee and the finance and special water committees of borough council.

Following the conference Chairman J. Max Creswell told a Mercury reporter:

"The recommendation of the citizens committee, which was selected in accordance with action of Borough council following a request by Solicitor Wells, will be presented at the next meeting of borough council on Wednesday evening, Nov. 5. At this time the citizens committee is not making public its decision. It also requests that the personnel of the committee be withheld until the council meeting."

At the joint session there was considerable discussion regarding the fee. Solicitor Wells appeared at the meeting for a few minutes and then left the building. He declined (Continued on Page Three)

Schulz Firm Joins Bread Price Boost

The Schulz Baking company yesterday joined other bakeries in announcing a one-cent rise in the price of a standard loaf of bread.

Charles Boyle, office manager, said the price in retail stores would advance from 15 to 16 cents.

The price hike came after three Philadelphia concerns and one Pottstown bakery raised their bread prices on Saturday. The rise was attributed to soaring flour prices and had no direct bearing on the wheat conservation program.

As the price rises were announced here, Reading bakers foresaw no immediate jump in bread prices there despite the fact that wheat was selling at $3 per bushel and flour at $16 per barrel.

They believed, however, that the high prices of raw materials would force a rise eventually.

Guards Fight Man From Fatal Leap

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—A man was snatched to safety today as he hung by his hands from the 86th floor parapet of the Empire State building, 1050 feet above the street.

Police identified him as Peter McPartland, 25, of Brooklyn, and said two guards seized him by the wrists and dragged him to safety after he clambered over the four-foot parapet of the observation platform.

He struggled wildly to swing free into space and four guards were wounded to erase him into an elevator, police said, adding that he told guards he had decided to jump from the world's tallest building when he found his stockroom job over-taxed his weak heart.

HIGHEST COURT KEEPS CLEAR OF RAIL DISPUTE

Jurists Won't Interfere In Rock Island Plan; Nudists Suffer Setback

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (P)—The Supreme court declined today to interfere with the long-contested reorganization of the Rock Island railway.

It likewise refused to touch a request that an "anti-nudism" ordinance in Los Angeles be ruled an unconstitutional violation of personal rights.

In its railway case action, the court apparently cut a pattern for several similar cases in which disappointed creditors contend that wartime prosperity of the lines requires better treatment for the creditors.

The ruling may set off a new drive for a change in Interstate Commerce commission policy on such reorganizations and for new railroad reorganization laws.

Senator Reed (R-Kan.) has bitterly criticized the plans worked out for a number of carriers, contending that they unnecessarily "wipe out" the claims of many security holders. At home in Kansas today, Reed declined to comment on the court's findings. He heads the Senate Interstate Commerce committee which plans to resume hearings in November on railroad reorganizations.

Senator Hawkes (R-N.J.), who had criticized Reed as having brought "outside pressure" on the ICC, hailed today's court ruling as providing a new basis for his "great respect for the Supreme court."

Today's decision was a mere refusal to hear an appeal from a circuit court ruling in favor of the Rock Island plan. It came on a 7-2 vote with Justices Frankfurter and Jackson contending that the court should find out how the ICC now views the Rock Island situation before disposing of the case.

The "anti-nudism" ordinance which the Supreme court left undisturbed forbids the operation of any place "where three or more persons not all of the same sex are permitted to commingle in the nude; or wherein persons are permitted to view persons of the opposite sex in the nude."

The ordinance was attacked by Lura D. Glassey and Henry L. Browning who said they were arrested at a nudist meeting place and sentenced to 180 and 90 days, respectively.

Report on Korea Won't Be Revealed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (P)—The State department today ruled against disclosure of the report Lt. Gen. Albert C. Widemeyer made on Korea and China, holding that publication now would be "actually harmful" to those countries and to the United States.

In another development relating to the Orient, the department said that the past Saturday it formally rejected Russia's proposal that Russian and American occupation troops withdraw simultaneously from Korea.

Rejection of the request had been predicted in advance by officials who indicated privately a feeling that the Russian-trained Korean army might try to take over if occupation forces pull out.

Widemeyer investigated conditions in China and Korea at the request of President Truman. The State department acknowledged "urgings" from some quarters for publication of his report, but said much of it was based on confidential information.

Reds Resigned to Conflict, Harriman Tells Governors

British Exchange 120 Million in Gold For U. S. Dollars

LONDON, Oct. 20 (P)—Britain's Labor government announced tonight another $120,000,000 dip into the country's gold reserves on the eve of a new session of parliament and in the midst of an economic crisis.

Announcement of sale of the gold to the United States in exchange for dollars was accompanied by disclosure that the treasury had obtained an equal number of dollars through an exchange of sterling with the international monetary fund.

The sterling exchange was made yesterday while the gold was the total of sales over the past month, a treasury announcement said. Similar disclosures will be made monthly hereafter, the statement added. It said arrangements had been made for "various shipments of gold at suitable intervals" in the future.

The $240,000,000 total presumably represents for approximately a five week period Britain's adverse balance of trade with the United States and other "hard currency" countries—the imports she is unable to pay for from proceeds of her exports.

Tarchiani conferred 40 minutes with Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett. He said Lovett told him this Government is studying the situation, intensively and that he hoped for a possible answer within a few days.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 20 (P)—Secretary of Commerce Harriman declared tonight that Russia has been waging a word attack on the United States since shortly after VJ Day and that "the Communists believe in the inevitability of armed conflict."

Harriman, the former U. S. ambassador to Moscow, said in a speech delivered at the annual conference of Southern governors: "This we have never accepted. I am convinced that we can maintain peace provided we will use our efforts to help free men attain their freedom."

"With our help all free countries can be living demonstrations that man's best hope, spiritually and materially can be attained under free democratic institutions."

"I am convinced that this in time will be irresistible and that the progress of free countries will generate pressures that will penetrate even behind the iron curtain."

It was the second major blast against Soviet leadership within a week by the wartime ambassador. His first, in a Chicago speech, brought a Russian press denunciation of him as an "instigator" of war.

Harriman's comments on Russia were tied in with a declaration that the U. S. must help Western European countries in their Marshall plan program of "self-help by which they hope to restore their productivity."

He said the 19-man committee on foreign aid which he heads will give President Truman shortly after Nov. 1 a report on Marshall plan aid so Mr. Truman can submit his emergency and long-range foreign aid program to congressional committees.

Corpse Overshadows Lamour As Fireman 'Shakes' at Show

CINCINNATI, Oct. 20 (P)—Fireman Walter Saul sat through the double feature at a neighborhood theater but he didn't enjoy it even though eye-appealing Dorothy Lamour was one of the stars.

The head of a dead man rested on Saul's shoulder throughout the show.

Saul today gave his account of his experience which left him "pretty shaky" Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Saul entered the theater at the end of the previews and took seats next to Aloysius Bolin, 58, a printer, and his six-year-old son, Joseph.

A few minutes later, Saul felt a head on his shoulder and turning Bolin had fallen asleep attempted to rouse him.

Saul, former member of the fire department's life squad, then put his head over the man's head and checked his pulse to discover the man was dead—and already turning cold.

The second picture over, Saul carried the body from the theater and summoned an ambulance—after he told little Joseph Bolin, who was unaware that his father was dead to go home and bring his mother because "your father is sick."

nected the committee to advise housewives that poultry is the economical and patriotic buy. The outlook was that Luckman would remove the Thursday ban on poultry, though not on eggs. Luckman was insistent, however, that a specific program be substituted by the industry which would contribute a substantial savings of grain to his campaign of conserving 100,000,000 bushels for Europe. Industry spokesmen—although reluctant to talk because of what they called a "silence agreement" with the committee—said such a program would be hard to develop. Hence the prospect of a prolonged session.

Recreational Body Joins Local Council
The Pottstown Recreation commission voted at its meeting last night, held in borough hall, to join the Pottstown Council of Social Agencies.
Francis Donnon, recreation director, who will represent the commission in the council, said, "The purpose of our joining the Council of Social Agencies is to coordinate community activities."
Commission members thanked the Pottstown Kiwanis club for its decision to sponsor three Halloween parties, to be held at the Senior High school, at Bethany center, and at the YWCA Jive Junction.
Donnon gave a report on the convention of the Recreation Congress, held in New York city the past week.
Present last night were Dr. Gustave W. Weber, chairman of the Recreation commission, J. Max Creswell, L. Leroy Johnson, Leonard Hiltwine and Donnon.

Berks Firms Target Of Anti-Trust Suit
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark announced today that an anti-trust action has been brought against the Textile Machine Works and Berkshire Knitting mills, both of Wymissing, Pa., and a number of their officers and directors.
The attorney general said a civil suit has been filed in the U. S. District court for Southern New York alleging that the two concerns have engaged in "monopoly and conspiracy in restraint of trade" in the hosiery machinery field.
The two companies are owned and controlled by substantially the same individuals," the Justice department's announcement said.
The suit, the department said, seeks among other things to separate the two concerns.

to the School of Nursing, at a cost of $375.
A report for September showed 315 patients were admitted, a total of 2684 patient days recorded, and the average daily bed occupancy was 92.
Board members were notified that Dr. David W. Park, a representative of the American College of Surgeons, would inspect the hospital Oct. 31.
"The hospital has been on the colleges' fully-approved list for the past 18 years," Seawell declared. "and I am certain that we shall be on it again this year."
Bronze plaques, ordered by the Pottstown hospital several months ago, will arrive next month, according to Seawell. They will be placed on room doors, to acknowledge the donor, and there will be a large plaque in the lobby with the names of all hospital contributors engraved upon it.
A patient survey has been conducted by the hospital for the past few months, gathering outgoing patients on their opinion of all phases of hospital work and service. "Not only are 98 percent of the replies favorable," Seawell pointed out, "but we have received letters from discharged patients praising the hospital for its services, and often singling out individual doctors and nurses for their help."

Unhappy is the man who is not so much dissatisfied with what he has as with what the other fellow possesses.
—Chauncey M. Depeur.

A Useful Insurance

TODAY an army of conscientious Pottstown citizens begins the annual Community Chest campaign.

The goal is for $116,971, or enough to carry over 11 Pottstown agencies for another year. The goal has been publicized as the highest in the history of the Community Chest in Pottstown. It is $40,000 higher than the amount raised the past year.

And yet at $116,971 the Community Chest is a bargain to the community. With limited funds the Chest does its work well. If it failed, the agencies would have to solicit individually—a more costly way and a terrible nuisance. The most money then would go to the best salesmen, and not to the most useful causes.

Calling the Chest indispensable is not an overstatement.

Advanced though our society is in some ways, a residue of misery persists. Self-sustaining citizens are sometimes reduced by misfortune to the ranks of dependency. The war on disease is never won. Prolonged distress still spawns childhood delinquency, adult crime and hatred of society.

Chest agencies directly serve 40 percent of the people, ministering most intensively to the very poor, but also benefiting better-off people who use hospitals and whose children are in youth activities.

Social ills know no fences; the blight spreads from the sick to the well. So the Chest is a useful insurance to all the community, bought at a bargain price by contributors and given free to those who cannot or will not contribute.

Voluntary contributions impose a moral ordeal of course. There is a temptation to let others carry the load; it can always find the excuse that some with greater means are giving less.

At the same time, however, many with less may be giving more. No one loves a "free rider."

In spite of excuses, the need remains—the humanitarian need and the hard-headed need of society to safeguard its weaker or less favored members.

Paying out money without something in the hand to show for it is rarely a painless experience. But a bad conscience can also be painful.

One Man's Meat

HIGH meat prices are having a double-barreled effect on the huge dairy industry.

They have sent demand for cheese soaring, with the result that cheese makers are strongly out-bidding butter makers for milk. Cheese production is running at an all-time high, with butter production in Wisconsin, for example, is at the lowest point in 50 years. The output there is running a full 25 per cent less than in 1945.

Butter makers say the only way they can compete with cheese men is to get a higher price for dried skim milk. They're pushing for an aggressive export-relief campaign.

Meanwhile, despite the fact that dairy markets have stiffened, high meat prices have encouraged culling of dairy herds. Dairymen, who don't believe present milk prices can last indefinitely, are cashing in on the record-making beef market to get rid of their tag-end milkers.

One Way to Avoid Colds

THE common cold has the medical profession stopped cold. It admits it. But it must keep the public aware that it is still working on the problem; still seeking a preventive and a cure.

Newest wrinkle in the fight against the common cold has been revealed by a group of physicians and psychiatrists in New York, to wit:

Nagful troubles, arguments with the butcher or a bill collector, or other emotional stresses, can cause colds in the nose, the group reports.

Enracting on the report, one doctor told of a shop girl who developed a cold after a fight with her boyfriend.

So, if you don't want a cold this winter, avoid arguments with your wife or husband.

Dear Sir: I see by the papers where an Illinois farmer is experimenting with the breeding of cows weighing only 200 pounds. Farmers in the Pottstown area should follow suit. It will make the cows smaller targets during the coming hunting season.

Another item says a noted dentist declares the average human mouth is 5 percent larger than it was 10 years ago. Wal, we've got lots more to talk about today than we had in 1937.

And say: Things could be lots worse. That 60-day distillers' holiday, to save grain will end just before New Year's.

Hopin' you air the same.

Ministry Nurses Ills Too

To the Editor: This is to a Farmer ("Preachers vs. Doctors.") Readers Say, Oct. 16. After reading your letter, I got the impression you are sick and really need help and not the kind you get from your doctor.

It's people like you who help to tear down the wonderful work the ministry is doing.

Go to a church and really take part or listen to the radio program of the National Federation of Churches each Sunday morning. It's free to all and given to help people such as you who are losing the way when sin is so great, as you say.

I have been ill since May, bedfast most of the time. And while my physician is one of the finest I am afraid without the splendid efforts of my pastor and the Christian efforts of love shown so generously by our church friends, my doctor would have had a much tougher time.

Now don't be prejudiced. Look at the death rate, especially from heart disease. Listen to your friends. How many are completely well? Yes, the medical world has done much but so has follower of the Great Physician.

Perhaps one clergyman disappointed you, but then so have doctors disappointed people. One disciple even denied his Lord! Remember, you're a good man in the work. So take down the barriers and let learned men who studied the Bible give you back your faith in all men.

Pottstown SUSAN

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

FLORA L., 17, recently sent her photograph and 25 cents to a physiognomist, who wrote her as follows:

"You are a thinker and a student, rather than a doer. Your actions are controlled by your mind rather than by your body."

"You eat to live instead of living to eat. You are somewhat frail of body but because your mind is in control, you will probably outlive your stronger companions."

You are imaginative, temperamental, spiritual and talented. You like romance, drama, music, art and all things mental. You are generous in rendering service to others."

"You give freely without thought for tomorrow. You like fine things. Beauty is more important to you than strength; style more important than price."

After having received this so-called character analysis, she asked me, "Dr. Crane, what do you think of it?"

Well, it is obviously a very flattering series of statements constructed deliberately in order to make all girls feel that they receive their 25 cents' worth!

Modern women wish to be thought intellectual instead of sensual. Even though they weigh 200 pounds, it tickles their vanity to be told that they eat to live instead of living to eat.

And it does no harm to encourage girls to think about the spiritual and cultural things of life. In this respect, the above advice may even be helpful.

Like the typical analysis, however, it includes at least one unpleasant item, for it tells Flora that "You are somewhat frail of body."

Quax are often more clever than many bona fide psychologists. The physiognomist knew that he should include at least one uncomplimentary remark just to convince the girl that his diagnosis wasn't all flattery.

However, in order to take all of the sting from such a criticism, he then did what fortune tellers usually do; namely qualified his criticism until it actually became another compliment, as in his further remarks, "but because your mind is in control, you will probably outlive your stronger companions."

Legitimate and ethical psychologists realize that such attempts to read character by the face or by the bumps on your skull are simply quackery.

Despite repeated examinations of these claims by various psychology laboratories here and abroad, we have never found them to have scientific foundation or validity.

As Houdini explained regarding the purported claims of spiritualistic mediums, their supposed supernatural stunts were just clever sleight-of-hand affairs.

X-rayed, "on many people" others to do their thinking. I know of an otherwise intelligent business man here in Chicago who paid $250 per month to a crystal gazer in order to get "hot tips" regarding the stock market.

If the crystal reveals such prophetic information, why isn't the crystal gazer rich in wealth from playing his own hot tips? But this business man never considers this logical objection.

A student of mine came to class one day profoundly impressed by a mind reader who had performed the night before at a sales meeting. He argued that the man was truly psychic.

So I gave him a mind-reader sold his time for $25 for the full evening, when he otherwise could make millions if he really could read minds. My student sheepishly admitted he hadn't thought of that.

So don't insist: God by failing to use the good brain he placed in your skull. Be men and women, not silly sheep.

Warren the Enigma

Of Republican Politics

By RAY TUCKER

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 20 — Gov. Earl Warren has established himself as the enigma of 1948 Republican presidential politics. But his strong, silent, to-be-or-not-to-be attitude on his prospective candidacy is no mystery to political friends and observers operating in the sunshine or shadows of the State House dome.

Without attributing any machivellian motives to his strategy, they believe he would be only too happy to drag down the top honor, and that he might be content with second place under certain circumstances.

In fairness to the governor, this conclusion is not based on any private or public statement of his. He grins or keeps mum when the subject is mentioned. But, like the man often linked with him as a presidential double winner, General "Ike" Eisenhower, he will not say that "I am not a candidate" any more than he will admit that he is. But here are a few political items that seem significant to experienced onlookers at Sacramento:

SIGNIFICANT: A few weeks ago, a high state official close to the governor got word that certain influential people were forming an "eight-state Warren bloc"—California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Arizona and New Mexico.

When he was asked about it at his biweekly press conference, he professed ignorance of the movement. He also added that he questioned the practical wisdom of " bloc support for a presidential candidate." So he is thinking in terms political.

He has said that he does not want a California delegation instructed to elect him. But he has pursued the same tactics in the last two convention years, usually releasing them after they declared for him. But, under California's election laws, it is extremely difficult to send an un-instructed delegation to the national convention. They will be for him first and last, even if he bids them to go their way. He must out-Sherman the Civil War General's declaration to take himself out of the race.

SUCCESSFUL: Gov. Warren has been in politics almost since he was graduated from the University of California. Like any red-blooded man, especially one who has been so successful at the fascinating game, he loves it. He will be nearing sixty when he finishes his second term at Sacramento in 1950, and he will be limping into a western, political sun if he puts aside a national crown again, as he did when he refused to run with Gov. Dewey in 1944.

He might seek the governorship again, but even "executing" such a state as California could become wearisome. Moreover, Californians have elected a man as Chief Executive for two full terms only twice — the late Hiram W. Johnson and Earl Warren. He could be defeated.

To him, the dull Senate would probably be more tiresome than a third term at Sacramento. Furthermore, Senator Sheridan Downey, Democrat, is said to be more powerful now than when he first ran. He has picked up business and industrial and financial support he did not have then.

It is doubtful if Governor Warren would oppose Senator William F. Knowland, an old friend and the man he appointed to the Senate on the death of Mr. Johnson. Mr. Knowland, member of a prominent Oakland publishing family, is no mere seat-warmer and Governor Warren did not intend he should be.

There is talk that the governor, a veteran lawyer and prosecutor, would prefer to be attorney general or a Supreme Court justice to the vice-presidency in event the GOP wins next year. But the party bosses will owe him nothing if, as in 1944, he turns them down cold again.

EXPECT: Few professional politicians blame him for his 1944 snub because, like himself, few figured that the New York Governor belonged in the same league with F.D.R. in that critical year. But this time the GOP masterminds believe that they are on the upgrade and they expect every loyal Republican to give the party a shove, or at least a generous contribution up the White House hill. And Governor Warren is not a wealthy man.

It is generally agreed that the governor would add tremendous strength to the ticket, especially in western states with more than seventy electoral votes.

Although Senator Downey ventures the opinion that President Truman will carry California, he concedes that it would go Republican in a big way if Mr. Warren's name were under the election banner in top or second place.

State Chairman James Roosevelt would probably make the same admission.

ACHIEVEMENT: Although California has an overwhelmingly Democratic registration and voted four times for F.D.R., observers think that the outcome in 1932, 1936, 1940 and 1944 was a personal tribute to him rather than a permanent Democratic switch. They may be wrong, for this state has had an unprecedented change in influx of population during and since the war. But it has had only one Democratic Governor since the turn of the century — Culbert W. Olson, whom Mr. Warren defeated in 1942 — and last year it elected Senator Knowland by a thumping majority.

GOPers do believe — and they are trying hard not to kid themselves — that the name of Roosevelt has lost its magic since F.D.R.'s death. Here is why: When Robert W. Kenny, former Attorney General and now a Wallace bandleader, planned to oppose Governor Warren last year, he concluded that he would be a sure winner if he could land the state chairmanship for James Roosevelt. He did.

But Governor Warren sank them both by sweeping the Democratic as well as the Republican primary — an achievement rarely, if ever, matched in American politics. Small wonder that visiting Republican leaders want the California Governor on the ticket and believe that they can win under an Eisenhower-Warren flag.

In Hollywood

By JIMMIE FIDLER

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 20 —

The death of silent screen star Olive Borden, an object of poverty points out again one of the chief charges that can be levied against Hollywood. That charge, boiled down to its essentials, is simply one of rank carelessness where its treatment of individuals is concerned.

Olive Borden was only 40 years old. She had been a top-notch star and a better than good actress. Surely the industry, if it had bothered to remember her existence, could have found enough work for her to give her a decent livelihood. It's true that the industry provides a charity fund for its down-and-outers, but charity, in the case of a still-young person who wants to work, is not the proper answer.

IDOL CHATTER: With Lou Costello playing satire, how could it be anything but "broad"? ... Wondering muse: Strange how many of the top-flight stars who demand time off to attend the World Series, never attend a baseball game during the regular season ... No critic will ever dismiss Carmen Miranda with the remark "She's too great shakes!" ... As to studio heads: If you're looking for a best-bet movie, how about starring Nelson Eddy in the life of his favorite, Feodor Chaliapin? ... Now that Mickey Rooney's learning to fly, there's some hope for his life-long ambition to look down on the world ... Imaginable hilarious evening: Umpiring a sneering contest between Robert Montgomery and Robert Milichum.

That radio partnership of Arthur Treacher and Jimmy Durante has encountered an amusing snag. Treacher's too tall to use the mike if it's adjusted for Durante's height — and Durante refuses to stand on a box because his delivery of lines is so acrobatic that he might fall off. The parents of kid star Bobby Driscoll fear that he may be permanently scarred as a result of being severely bitten by a neighbor's dog.

There's a chuckle in a note received from Jim Denton, currently touring Africa with Tyrone Power. At the Mr. Nelson Hotel in Cape Town where they stayed, Power's arrival seemed to have everyone in a fanlike, ecstatic tizzy — everyone that is, excepting an elderly Britisher whom the help customarily addresses as "Your Lordship." At dinner time, he stuck his head in the dining room and loudly called to the headwaiter: "I say, is that Power chap eating here tonight?" Informed that such was not the case, His Lordship harrumphed in satisfaction. "Good!" said he. "Then I'll stay!"

Margaret O'Brien's mama reports that their return trip, via air, from Honolulu, has made life a bit difficult. It seems that Margaret, true to her age, is given to sudden nervous locomotives. A ride on a miniature locomotive left her panting to be a female Casey Jones. Presented with one of Lassie's pups, she decided to be a dog trainer. After working in "The Unfinished Dance," she announced that she was going to be a ballerina. Now, thanks to the air jaunt, she's planning to be an airline hostess and insists on the family car being equipped with safety belts.

4000 Persons Watch Hallowe'en Parade; Prizes Are Awarded as 1000 Participate

Spring City celebrated Hallowe'en last night when a vast crowd watched the little tots and big tots stage the 22d annual Kiddies' celebration of Hallowe'en.

Upward of 4000 people lined the Main street to see a parade of 1000 boys and girls of school age in a brilliant spectacle, showing costumes from the sublime to the ridiculous.

Mummers in singles, pairs and groups promenaded in review before a board of 12 judges, in competition for cash prizes, which were distributed after the parade from the porch of Spring City Inn.

Headed by Police Chief John Hanebury, in the borough police car, as parade marshal, and Spring City High school band, the contingent moved at 7:30 o'clock.

Color guards of the high school band, leading off, were Eleanor Setzler, Faye Rudy, John Smoyer and Keith Long, followed by the three drum majorettes, Marilyn Hyden, Jean Funkbinder and Marguerite Noel.

The second division was led by Pennhurst State school band. Both bands received a big ovation.

HOLLYWOOD REDS —

Davies, who was sent to Russia by the late President Roosevelt. Mayer said M.G.M. soon will start shooting and anti-Communist picture called "Vespers in Vienna."

Warner said his company also plans an anti-Communist movie.

When Wood was on the witness stand, Stripling asked whether a Government official ever approached him about making a movie.

Wood said Lowell Mellett called on him in Hollywood during the war to ask him to make a picture about Congress enacting a law. Mellett was in charge of the movie branch of the Office of War Information.

Wood said he didn't know Mellett, but he couldn't see how it would help the war effort. He said he told them so, and "Then they went on talking about members of Congress, speaking of them by their first names."

"I don't know who they were talking about. All I remember of it was that they mentioned somebody named Joe and laughed a lot. Pretty soon they walked out and I never heard anyone about it."

"Did you get the idea," Stripling inquired, "that they wanted you to ridicule Congress?"

Rupert PTA Hears
Mrs. Walter McClennen
At a recent meeting of the Rupert PTA Mrs. Walter McClennen discussed a study course titled "A Child Dislikes School" at which time she told of methods to help a child like school.

Mrs. Harold Rohn, president, presided over the meeting and gave a report on the recent Pittsburgh convention.

A short talk on who and what "Town Hall" has to offer this year was given by Mr. Marvin Lipnack.

Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, reading supervisor, and Mr. Harvard Poonoc, supervising principal of the elementary schools, answered questions on the new school level system.

It was decided that study groups will be started so that parents can understand the school system. No date has been set for the meeting.

The Lord's Prayer was sung by Mrs. P. S. S.

WITH ELMER PANOC

NORTH Coventry High's head football coach, Bill Paolantonio, spent a week bragging at the school about the new drop-kicker which was going to be added to his family.

When his wife gave birth to a child the past Thursday she presented the coach with a daughter. The Paolantonio family may still be represented on a gridiron—but it will be a cheerleader instead of a drop-kicker.

It seems that all athletic coaches in high schools in and around Pottstown always become fathers or little girls instead of boys.

At a basketball game the past Wednesday a group of teachers got to talking about children. Morrell Grigg, assistant grid coach for Pottstown High's Trojans, was telling about how he had footballs and football books piled on his dresser waiting patiently for his wife to give birth to a boy so that the little lad might be able to play football.

Instead of a boy, Grigg's wife gave birth to a girl—another cheerleader.

Ed Good, head basketball coach and director of athletics at Pottstown High, is another man who wanted boys. The cage mentor wanted sons to play basketball, but instead Good is now the father of two girls—more cheerleaders.

MRS. LEON SELL, Spring City resident, came up with a hole-in-one the past Saturday afternoon while golfing with Mrs. Lowell Groff of Royersford at the Spring-rord county club.

Mrs. Sell approached the sixth hole of the Spring-Ford course and picked a No. 8 iron from her bag. She took one swing and the ball headed right for the green. It hit the green and rolled toward the hole, falling in right beside the pin.

The No. 6 hole at Spring-Ford is straight away from the tee. The distance is 105 yards, but the green is elevated and is protected by sand traps on the side facing the tee. The shot from the tee has to be a dead pitch shot in order for the golfer to make a hole-in-one.

PHOENIXVILLE football fans saw their first night game at Washington Field for the first time in quite a few years the past Friday night when the Phoenixville Moose played host to a Philadelphia eleven. The Phoenixville team treated a huge crowd to a 39-0 victory.

NOW that the baseball and softball season is history, the Pottstown Cardinals are finding other forms of recreation to occupy their time during the winter months.

Some of the girls are taking to dart throwing, some are now trying their skill at bowling, and the Pennsylvania State softball champions are doing right well with their new hobbies.

BEN HOGAN NAMED ACTIVE CAPTAIN OF RYDER CUP TEAM

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—The American Ryder Cup team has named Ben Hogan as active captain for the match with the Britons at Portland, Ore., Nov. 1 and 2. It was announced today by PGA president Ed Dudley.

Walter Hagen, and Craig Wood will serve as non-playing co-captains. Hagen captained the team in all previous matches, although he did not play in 1937, the last time the matches were held. Wood was named captain for the 1941 match, which never was played.

Hogan, the stately, lithe Texan now playing out of Hershey, Pa., was the leading pro money winner last year and was 1946 PGA champion. This will be his first Ryder Cup match, although two members of the current team, Sam Snead and Byron Nelson, participated in the 1937 event.

Henry Cotton is captain of the British team, which is due to arrive on the Queen Mary Thursday morning.

READING HIGH J. V. DROPS 6-0 TILT TO THE HILL SCHOOL

For three periods, Reading High's junior varsity football team battled to a scoreless tie with The Hill school junior varsity, but a pass interception midway through the fourth quarter led to the only touchdown of the game and a 6-0 victory for the Blue and Grey.

Both teams failed to carry out opportunities to score in the first three periods on Dell Field yesterday but midway through the final period, Reading headed for The Hill goal and opened up with a passing attack. Tom Edson, The Hill's alert center, brought down a Reading aerial on the 50-yard line and scampered down the sidelines for the only score. Edson attempted to place kick the extra point but the kick was wide.

In the opening stanza, The Hill drove to the Reading 25-yard line but couldn't move the pigskin any farther. Reading did the same thing in the second period but was stopped on The Hill 25.

Then in the third frame, the local prep school eleven started to move. A long sustained drive carried to the Reading 10-yard line but was halted.

City Cage Loop Meets Tonight

Managers of all teams entered in the City Basketball league will meet with league officials tonight to discuss plans for the coming season in Pottstown.

Francis Donnan, director of recreation in Pottstown, last night said he hopes to see some new faces at the meeting tonight. He urges any team interested in entering the league to have a representative present at tonight's meeting.

The meeting will be held in the office of the Pottstown Recreation commission at Borough Hall and will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Donnan said the league officials and managers will talk about a tentative schedule tonight and will approve the league constitution. They will also talk about the officials the league will have this year.

Father and Son Outguess 112 Contestants to Sweep Prizes of Football Contest

A father and his son outguessed 112 other contestants in The Mercury's grid guessing contest this week and contest judges announced last night that all six prize tickets to the Pottstown-West Chester football game would be going to one family.

Leo L. Lawler 403 Walnut street, picked nine correct winners out of the ten games to carry away first prize and his son, Larry, selected eight correct winners to cop second prize. Larry picked eight winners along with five other contestants but was awarded the prize because of his accuracy of picking the correct scores.

Most of the 114 contestants entered in the contest missed three games. The Pottstown-Phoenixville tie was picked by only two persons but other games gave these persons trouble. The other games that were missed by many contestants were the Yale-Wisconsin game and the Vanderbilt-Kentucky fray.

Thirty-two persons picked seven winners correctly and 38 contestants came through with six correct winners. Sending in coupons with five correct winners were 22 contestants and 13 persons had four winners correct. Two contestants picked two winners.

Quite a few of the contestants missed the Utah-Denver game and some were wrong on the PNC-Johns Hopkins contest. Nearly everyone had Michigan to beat Northwestern and not many missed the Southern California-Oregon State and the Mississippi-Tulane games.

Lawler will receive four tickets to the Pottstown-West Chester game which is scheduled to be played on Franklin Field Saturday afternoon. His son will receive two tickets to the same game.

How Thick is a Brake Lining?

THAT DEPENDS.
If it's stock lining, picked up on the open market, it will be one thickness.
If it's an oversize lining from our supply of Buick-engineered parts, it will be thicker—planned by Buick engineers as a replacement to give new-car brake action under conditions in which some wear on shoes may have taken place.
Thoughtful? Sure. But it illustrates what we and Buick mean when we talk about car care. Not just meeting your service needs, but going far enough to keep your car at its best, even when it has had a lot of use.
We specialize in Buick-engineered parts for just such reasons. We even use shop tools specially designed for Buick, so that the job will be done right—and in quickest time.
Drop in some time and let us show you the difference between ordinary service and Buick car care.

IRISH CROONER IS NEW KING OF FLYWEIGHTS

Rinty Monaghan Awarded 15-Round Decision Over Marino in London Bout

LONDON, Oct. 20 (P)—Although he was knocked down twice by Dado Marino, Irish crooner Rinty Monaghan was awarded the 15-round decision over the Hawaiian and won acclaim virtually everywhere but in Britain as world's flyweight champion.

The fight was billed as an 112-pound championship fight by Promoter Jack Solomonson although former titleholder Jackie Paterson of Glasgow, had obtained an injunction to prevent the British Boxing Board of Control from immediately recognizing a new flyweight king. The British board previously had given approval to the match as a championship affair and it was announced from the Harringay Arena ring before the fight that the National Boxing Association (NBA) and the Eire Boxing Board of Control would recognize the winner as champion.

The crowd paid up to $42 for seats and they booed lustily during the early rounds of the fight. The mighty mites clinched repeatedly in the early going although Marino tried to force the fight all of the way.

As the fans yelled for action, Referee Waltham warned Monaghan for holding and later told both fighters to speed up the action. Marino, who weighed 111 to 111½, for his opponent, and his bit to stir things up when he floored the Irishman for a seven count in the 11th round with a right hook to the body. Again in the last round Marino dropped Monaghan for a no-count with a right to the chin.

Besides the knockdowns, the Hawaiian drew blood from the crooner's nose and from a cut over his left eye. Marino was the aggressor throughout and scored points with his infighting.

Baby Trojans Top Phoenixville, 7-0

Coach Bill McCabe's Baby Trojans took advantage of a break early in the first period yesterday, turned it into a touchdown and played scoreless ball the rest of the way to score a 7-0 victory over Phoenixville High's junior varsity.

Some 100 fans were on hand to watch the Baby Trojans cop their first win of the season on Franklin Field. In their first time out for the locals led Norristown, 12-12.

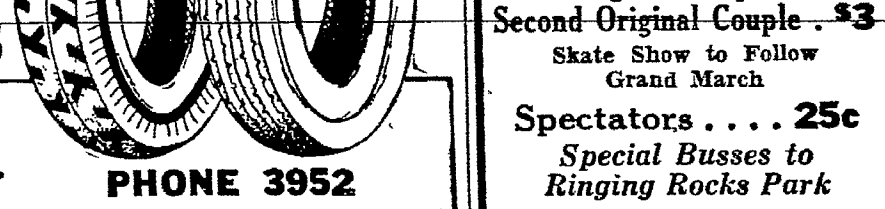

Shortly after the kickoff, a Phoenixville back fumbled on the Phoenixville 20-yard line. Pottstown recovered on the 20 and marched down for a touchdown. Fullback Joe Pollock and quarterback Pete Peroni alternated with the ball carrying and moved the pigskin to the eight yard line from where Pollock scored on an end sweep. Joe Axsmith placed kicked the extra point and that was all the scoring in the game.

The Blue and White threatened again in the second period and had Phoenixville on the defense for most of the second and third periods.

In the fourth period, the Phoenixville back fumbled on the Pottstown ten-yard line. Chubby Stouck lost four yards and went back to punt. The Trojan halfback faked a kick and with the aid of some beautiful blocking broke loose to the Pottstown 40. The Trojans then punted and the end came soon after with Phoenixville trying desperation passes.

How will you look when the Community Chest Volunteer calls?

Especially posed for our Community Chest by Jean Marshall

Feel like scowling?

Well, some things in life deserve to be scowled at. So go ahead—scowl at the things that are all wrong with the world—but don't scowl at the things that are all right.

And particularly don't scowl when the Red Feather volunteer rings your doorbell, asking for your contribution to the Community Chest!

At a good deal of inconvenience to himself, this chap is giving his time and devotion to a cause that benefits everybody in this town—including you. He's passed up the stack of mail on his own desk today. He's cancelled some business appointments. He's postponed play "for the duration" of the Chest campaign.

Why has he done all this? So that you and I, as good citizens, can have a share in the important job of the Red Feather services in this community—the job of steadying and strengthening family life... keeping kids healthy, happy and out of trouble... caring for the sick... the handicapped... the aged.

So when he calls at your home or office, greet him warmly for what he is—a fine citizen doing a much-needed service for the whole community. Let him tell you the Red Feather story. And remember that helping those who need you is a feather in your cap. Then, indeed you'll...

Feel like smiling.

Everybody benefits... Everybody gives
